ZenHen is located in the Down town Powell Plaza next to Finn and Roe

I recently visited a new store called "ZenHen " that was opened by Tara Schnetzler in Down town Powell next to Finn and Roe. I was very happy with the quality of the products and the selection of clothing they had. The store had a variety of different styles from casual to even a more dressy look. The staff was super friendly and helpful in figuring out what one would want to buy. As I walked into the store you immediately noticed that there had been alot of careful consideration that had gone into the layout of the place. It was a homey yet modern look and the space was very clean and comfortable. Some people could say that it looked like there was too much going on but others would have enjoyed the layout and how the clothes and antiques were placed.

The clothing in the ZenHen store is not only directed for adults but for teenagers and children too. They sell tank tops, blouses, skirts, sweaters, tee shirts, shorts, etc. The one thing that ZenHen does fall short on is the limited stock of mens clothing. Although they do sell sweatshirts that are gender neutral they fall short on the side of mens shirts and shorts. Other than that tho the clothing is very well targeted towards the female classified audience and they do a great job reaching out to us.

Clothing is not the only thing that they sell. They also sell candles, handbags, purses, soaps, pots, jewelry and more. The quality of everything they sell is outstanding and the ZenHen store is definitely a place I would go to buy more than just clothing.

The environment of the store is also a plus. As someone who lives fairly close to Downtown Powell the chances of me winding up there is higher than some. Although, even if I didn't live as close to downtown Powell as I did I think I would still find myself there a lot. There are alot of other places around it. For example little boutiques, ice cream shops, restaurants and more. So it really shows the convenience of the location.

With all of that being said I would definitely recommend checking out the new store if you have time on your hands or if you're looking for something cute.
