A brand new store has opened up in the Polaris Mall back in November, Garage. Garage is known for being on trend and having some very edgy clothes. They have tons of different womens denim options, shirts, skirts, dresses, sweatshirts, and other accessories. Garages can be found in most states and many different malls around the United States. Many fellow teens and the major consenious on the internet say that Garage quickly caught their eye as they were walking by. The store is very neon and bright from the outside. The store front is well organized and matches the front sign very well. People have said that they have cute clothes but the prices are also very high. For example, a pair of jeans is anywhere from $60-80. Their website is filled with lots of clothes perfect for summer. The majority of people that shop at Garage are teenagers.

“I love the way their store is designed and all the cute clothes in it,” says freshamn Avery Hilvert. “They are so comfortable and they are not priced very high, their prices match other trending clothing stores”.

If you go on to their website it’s very organized and easy to navigate. Their most central items on their website is their festival attire. They sell tons of cute summer clothes and have many clothes for many occasions.

“Their clothes are very cute,” freshman Mindy Schoen says. “Although I’ve never bought anything from there I love their store front and the way the store is decorated.”

There is about any color you can dream of and so many different dress, shirt, and skirt variations. I’ve also heard some bad things about Garage.

“Garage has no size variety,” freshman Varsha Banumukkala says. “All the cute things have no size inclusivity, the size range for most of the items are extra small to large which in this day in age is unethical and should not continue to happen.”

This is a common thing on tiktok and other social media apps. People are not happy about how all the cute clothes are made for smaller girls. They are not adaptable for the plus size community or girls with bigger busts and just all around not inclusive. The plus size community is mad that no one has called out these bigger clothing stores for the lack of universality and continues to support them.

“I think that their clothes are so cute but their size inclusivity is not it,” freshman Monnishaa Tambe said. “I would be a lot more willing to support them if they were more size inclusive.”
